- Standard terms and conditions apply to the insurance policy, which will be provided to you should you take up cover.
- Carefully read the standard terms and conditions to ensure you understand how it may affect you.
- The following terms and conditions are highlighted as they may affect your funeral insurance cover.
- To qualify for the funeral insurance cover, you must be lawfully resident in South Africa.
- When you take up cover, only provide information that is truthful, accurate and complete, and should any of your information change, you must inform the funeral parlour. Failure to do so, may affect your cover and may result in the funeral benefits not being paid to you in the event of a claim.
- Once the underwriter has accepted application, your cover will start on the first day of the next calendar month, subject to waiting periods (if applicable) and provided that you have paid your first premium.
- For new policies, a waiting period of up to six months may apply at the start of the policy, during which time you will not receive the benefits under the policy. In the event of accidental death, no waiting period will apply. In the event of suicide, a waiting period of 12 months will apply.
- Adult dependents are only covered up to the age of 21. Thereafter, cover may be extended if the adult dependent is still studying, and you can provide proof of study.
- Death due to criminal involvement will not be covered under the policy.
- To enjoy cover and to qualify for the benefits provided under the policy, you must pay your premiums monthly in advance. If you miss a payment, you will be given a grace period of 15 days to bring your premium up to date. If you do not pay within the grace period, you will not be covered, and the benefits under the policy will not be paid to you in the event of a claim.
- Should you miss two premium payments, your policy will lapse, and you will not have cover. Failure to reinstate your policy and bring the outstanding premiums up to date, will result in your policy being cancelled, which may result in a new waiting period should you wish to take out a new policy.
- The underwriter does not guarantee premium rates and may review them annually upon anniversary of your policy. In the event of a rate increase, policy benefits do not also increase, and you will be informed of any rate increase at least 31 days before it happens.
